When ordering replacement arm type level winds with mechanical digital counters for late 2006 - early 2007 model B-Series machines, it will be necessary to determine whether the unit has the old style or new style level wind. These designs are not interchangeable. The redesigned level wind features spring loaded quick release pins. One to release the level wind from it's parked position and another to adjust the length were the arm telescopes. The two designs are pictured below.
